General Manager’s Message

Another summer in northern Minnesota has flown by much too fast. Mother Nature blessed us with wonderful weather, and it was fantastic getting out and attending so many summer events that were once again filled to capacity. Lakeland PBS production crews have certainly been busy over the summer, capturing stories from across the region that will be compiled in a new season of our long-running series, Common Ground. Traveling hundreds of miles, our producers have covered stories from Grand Rapids to Covigvik, Brainerd to Blackduck, and many other communities in between. Here at Lakeland PBS, our entire focus remains on telling authentic local stories and providing valuable news and information tailored for our viewers here in north central Minnesota. This kind of local service is something you simply won’t find elsewhere and we hope you find worthy of support.

We also know that many of you look to Lakeland PBS for amazing national programs like Masterpiece, PBS NewsHour, and Nature. With viewing habits changing so rapidly in the past few years, we’re constantly striving to “meet you where you’re at” so you can discover our new PBS and locally produced programming. If you’re like many folks, you may get some of your TV content via the internet using a Smart TV, Roku, Free Stick, or similar streaming device. Don’t worry, you know that you can download the PBS Video App on most any of these devices and even on your smartphone! It’s a free download and it will allow you to watch a wide variety of great PBS programs including some of our local programs all on demand. Check it out by downloading the PBS Video App on your phone or connected device now!

Looking ahead to the fall, we’re excited about the premieres of new programs – in both our local productions and national PBS content. Our own series, including Common Ground, Backroads, and Lakeland Currents, will begin again this fall with new content highlighting local arts, culture, history, music and public affairs. One of the highlights from PBS this month is “The U.S. and the Holocaust,” a new Ken Burns’ film that tells the story of how the American people grappled with one of the greatest humanitarian crises of the twentieth century, and how this struggle tested the ideals of our democracy. I hope you make time to watch these new great programs, either through our broadcast, or whenever is most convenient to you on our streaming platforms.

In closing, I’ll mention that we have a short pledge drive in September and we really need your support to close out our fiscal year on a strong note. Producing quality local programming and acquiring national PBS content is a very expensive endeavor for a small market station like ours, so a consistent stream of member support is a vital part of our operating budget. Please keep in mind that your contributions to Lakeland PBS are tax deductible. Thank you for your support!
